“To get from where you are to where you are going,
you have to be willing to be in between! ”
–Jentezen Franklin

As I ponder the in between places of my life journey, I wonder just how many people actually try to follow a map of their life journey without ever personally knowing the Creator of their life and the Author of their journey. To me, it would be kind of like trying to read without actually knowing how to read. For illustration, try to read the following paragraph.

Ehva uyo reev dinpxreece ibneg ni wneebt wto edfifntr cpaesl no uyro uynrejo fo flie? Nunrotfnuelyt, hte ni wneebt cpaesl fo flie nca eb yvre nucrfofmbaoel; wovhre, hwti God Almighty, hte One owh onskw revey irha no uyro adhe, uyo nca ahcre uyro nlafl sdenitaoni, on trretma ohw nucrfofmbaoel hte uynrejo gihmt eb.

Try as you may, but because the letters in each word are totally scrambled, the paragraph is virtually impossible to read and comprehend, unless you have some way of understanding the author s intent and creative design of the paragraph. Similarly, I believe the map of each person s spiritual life journey is pretty much the same way impossible to read and comprehend unless someone personally knows the One who created them with specific purpose and intent. However, let s see what happens when some boundaries are added to the paragraph above by ensuring that the first and last letters of each word are in fact correct. As such, please read the new paragraph rewritten below with a correct letter boundary at the beginning and end of each word known and applied.

Hvae you eevr exiprenecd bineg in bweetn two defifnrt plcaes on yuor junreoy of lfie? Ufnrotnuelty, the in bweetn plcaes of lfie can be vrey ucnofmortbale; hweover, wtih God Almighty, the One who kowns ervey hiar on yuor haed, you can raceh yuor fianl dtsenitaoin, no mettar how ucnofmortbale the junreoy mgiht be.

Surprisingly, the paragraph can be read and comprehended when the scrambled letters of each word are placed in between the boundaries of the correct first and last letters of each word. And guess what! This is also true for the map of our spiritual life journey when we surrender our lives to the Lord Jesus Christ, the Alpha and the Omega, the Beginning and the End, the First and the Last perfect boundary of our life. With the Lord as the Author and Finisher of our faith, we can trust His Word stated in Romans 8:28, And we know that all things work together for good to those who love God, to those who are the called according to His purpose. "This is really good news because regardless of how scrambled the in between places of our life journey may seem to be, as we follow Jehovah Roi the Lord our Shepherd - we can be confident that He will direct our steps and make our paths straight toward the fulfillment of our destiny in Him. Therefore, with a spirit of faith and humility, abundantly celebrate each in between step that takes you from where you are and closer to where you are going on your spiritual life journey with God!
